PICKING OUT WINNERS AT MONMOUTH. BACKING HIS SON'S COLT ERIC AND DOING

WELL ON OTHER HORSES. The rain fell in torrents at Monmouth Park and the air was close and hot, but the thousands of people esent were patient and cheerful. The track was a deep swamp, the profound mud covered by immense pools of water, through which the horses splashed, throwing dirty streams all about. It was a pleasant and profitable day for Pierre Lorillard, who has not been seen at the races often this year. He had some sound ideas on racing in the mud. His son, Pierre Lorillard, jr., sent for the second race a colt called Eric, by Duke of Magenta-Second Hand. The famous Duke was a great mud horse and his sons inherit this Eric had done nothing wonderful in his work on a dry track. His best time in a trial was about 1:17, but Pierre Lorillard, father and son, had great faith in him in the dismal swamp into which the rain converted the track. Their faith was not misplaced. Mr. Lorillard, sr., backed Eric so freely that the odds sank from 20 to 1 to 3 to 1, and it is understood that he made $10,000 on the He has given up credit betting with the bookmakers and sends down bills of a thouor five hundred each into the His friend and associate, Mr. Baldwin, the manager of Tuxedo Park, acted as his representative in placing his wagers, and after the victory of Eric it was an sight to see Mr. Lorillard, sitting at his case in the club house balcony, counting over thick wads of bills with large numbers clearly apparent upon each. His friends gathered around to congratulate him, among them Mr. Withers, Mr. Galway, Mr. Purdy, Clarence McDowell, James G. K. Lawrence, Frederic Gebhard, Porter Ashe, Louis P. Snyder, Cecil Clay and Mr. Belmont and B. A. Haggin were not at the track, and the storm kept away many other wellknown turfmen.

Mr. Lorillard also backed Umpire, the winner of the sixth race, whose owner, S. W. Street, made no secret of his confidence. Then, too, Mr. Lorillard backed Mr. Calway's maiden Montagu, who is a capital mud colt and won afar off. The Lorillard colt Kaleidoscope so strong a favorite for the seventh race that Pierre Lorillard could not get even money and would Kaleidoscope won by many lengths. Altogether Mr. Lorflard won more than $20,000, although he lost $1,500 on Servia in the last race. It was odd that he should select Servia in preference to Tiburon, the winner of that race, as Tiburen, like Eric, is by Duke of Magenta and revels in mud. Mr. Lorillard remarked in the course of the day that he intended to sume breeding at Rancocas with the fillies new in his son's racing stable. His son had only their racing When their racing days were over they would go to Rancocas for breeding. It was not so satisfactory a day for some of the bookmakers as for Mr. Lorillard and his friends. It was reported that Appleby & Johnson dropped $10,000. They ought to have put more trust in Now-or-Never from the Cassatt stable, who won the first race easily with odds of 12 to 1 against him, but they shared the general craze for Grimaldi. Mr. Pulsifer, of St. Louis, most of whose speculations in the East have turned out well, and who pocketed big sums by backing his horses, Grimaldi, Rapine and Housatonic, in races suited to their speed and capacity, had a bad quarter of an He backed Grimaldi until the colt was at only 2 to 1 in a field of thirteen, but got second place only. He backed Rapine in the fourth race and Housatonic in the fifth, and each got second place. Neither could As Mr. Pulsifer is spacious and ambitious in his ideas, and when he starts on a speculation expects to win largely, he lost more on his horses to win than he took in on them for a place. The starting was good and the management so prompt that although there were eight races the last one was over in good season, and passengers by the first trains for New-York reached the city before 8 Little Spider Anderson, the black jockey, who was tossed heels over head by Hawley on Thursday, won three races with Grover Cleveland, Umpire This may turn his head, as he was noted for self-control or common-sense. Although a mere boy he carries around with him in his trunk two pistels of enormous size. The jockey so small and the pistols are so big that if the ebony mite gets into a fight with all his armory on hand he will look like a field battery of the first class with the largest size of flying artillery all

Well, Uncle "Bill" was not whispering yesterday. The erudite and accomplished John Huggins, who trains Mr. Cassatt's horses, always said last year that w or Never could not run in the mud. Huggins must now change his opinion, for no mud could well be deeper than that In which the colt won easily yesterday against a strong field.

Eric, Harrisburg, Floodtide, and Groomsman were the preferred horses in the betting on the second race. Harrisburg is clever in mud. He led easily to the last furlong post, where Eric came up rapidly, passed him and won handsomely with Floodtide third. Captain Coster was rather hard on Floodtide in putting 116 pounds on him, but Mr. Ashe, his owner, thought he had a great chance, and advised Mr. Gebhard to get the match lost with Rosarium against Geraldine by backing Floodtide. Mr. Ashe's intentions in giving this advice were of the best, and yet Mr. Gebhard is not happy.

The betting on Raceland in the Barnegat Stakes was 4 and 5 to 1 on. He was ridden by Hayward. Belmont is justly dissatisfied with the riding of Godfrey, who shows little alertness and judgment, and cannot explain after a race how he has handled his horse. It is not likely that Godfrey will ride hereafter for Mr. Belmont in any important stakes if Hayward, Garrison or McLaughlin can be secured. Only Tea Tray and Fitzjames ran against Raceland. Raceland could have won by 100 yards, and did win a dozen lengths in slow time. Tea Tray suiked in the first mile and would not try. Hence Fitzjames passed him and in fact ran away from him, although he could never get near Raceland. Tray has become a wretched rogue, even worse than Eurus, and the Dwyers regret the $10,000 they paid Rapine was the favorite for the fourth race, with Cambyses second choice, and betting 6 and 7 to 1 against Grover Cleveland. But race goers forgot that Grover Cleveland in 1884 showed ability to run in the deepest mud, and his namesake yesterday followed his He was handleapped at 100 pounds only.

deepest mid, and his namesake rester lay followed his example. He was handleapped at 100 pounds only. The light weight and the heavy going just suited him. In fact he ran away from his field.

It was amusing after the race to see the wry faces of disgusted Democrats, who blamed themselves bitterly for deserting Grover. But distrust of G. C. has always been rampant in the Democratic party.

It was a sad error to start Kaloolah. She cannot run in mud and was a miserable last. Nor can Rupert run in mud, either. Ordway is stale. He has had too many hard races and needs rest.

Montagu, who ran away from the field in the fifth race, is a colt of merit. By the terms of the race he was put up for sale at $5,000. No bid came and Mr. Galway keeps him, but Mr. Withers remarked that if the colt were not owned by a personal friend he would bid on him, as he was worth more than $5,000.

As the California lad, young McCarthy, eleven years of age, won the $600 purse in the last race with Tiburon, he ought to crown the faithful worship of his adoring and eccentric faither with a new hat. The senior McCarthy's antique beaver tile appears to have indicted the storms of the Sierras since the era of the famous Calaveras skull.

It is expected that Mr. Withers's Favordale colt, the best two-year-old in his stable, and one of the best he ever bred, will meet Mr. Belmont's Lady Margaret in the Tyro Stakes to-morrow at the regular weights. The two will keep all the stop-watches busy.

McLaughlin lost a stirrup at the post and rode back to the paddeck for repairs. When he again faced the starter Harrisburg was fil-tempered, causing delay. He got a running start, however, from the rear, and in a dozen strides was two lengths ahead of his field. Mo-Laughlin took him in hand at the furlong post, permitting Jay F. Dee and Groomsman to get up to his saddle. On Jay F. Dee and Groomsman to get up to his saddle. On the turn Harrisburg drew away again, and it looked as if the race was all over. Eric got off third, but was so slow about it that in the run to the quarter he was passed by half his horses. Hayward got him to extend himself, however, in the homestretch, and Harrisburg tiring badly, Eric cropt up and won by a length, two between second and third. DID HE BELONG IN THE PRISON WARD! William Lieberknect, age forty-eight, a German tailor, of No. 206 Rivington-st., was dying at Bellevue Hospital yesterday white under arrest on a charge of attempting to kill himself. Members of his family were indignant on account of the blunder which they said the police had made in placing him in the pris ward. His injuries had been received by accident. For a year or two Lieberkneet had suffered from muscular rheumattsm and had become almost helpless. At about 4 a. m. yesterday he sat by an open window of his room on the fourth floor of the tenementhouse. Mrs. Lieberknect saw him topple over and fall out of the whidow. He fell to the stone flagging of the area, forty feet below, and was senseless when his wife and daughter reached him. A policeman reported that he had attempted to commit suicide.

ARRANGING FOR A FALL REGATTA. noon at the downtown Delmonico restaurant, No. 22 Broad-

The resignation from the Regatta Committee thanking Mr. Taylor for his endeavors on behalf of the caused by Mr. Taylor's resignation will be filled this season, because no other meeting will be called until the year's work is finished. The date for the annual crutse was fixed for August 8, the readeryous being New London. on these dates, the meeting elected a number of applicants for membership, and sajeurned sine die.

The pouring rain yesterday afternoon had little effect upon the attendance at the old John Street Methodist Episcopal Church camp meeting. It was opened with the usual stuging of familiar hymns, and then the Rev. Dr. Bowdish aunounced that the campmeeting would be continued indefinitely. The Re-Mr. Harrison, the "boy preacher," said that the meetings, far from tiring him, were strengthening him every day. The only day he had felt nervous and fatigued was once last week, when, at the advice of his friends, he had gone to the scaside for rest. Sunday," he said, " we had a shock of glory, but next Sunday we shall have a blaze of clory.'

The sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. Phillips, of Brooklyn. It was an eloquent appeal to all to accept the reconciliation offered to them by a generous Father. The congregation was visibly affected, many sobbing Soon the aitar rati was crowded with kneeling men and women, and while the ministers were talking to them in low whispers, the congregation sang and prayed for the new converts. The energetic evangelist would not let the meeting close till several hymns had been repeated again and again. Meanwhile he would go flown the asies and return, leading some one who wished to have "walk in the light." "The rain." he said, "was proving a flood of glory, for this day was the best of all." Intring this camp meeting over 200 conversions have been made, and in all the revivalist meetings Mr. Harrison has recently held in this and the adjoining cities over 2,300 have been converted. He says he will bring the number up to 2,500 within a week.

There will be no services to morrow, but on all other days of the week there will be meetings every after-neon. On Sunday the services will last all day, and next Friday there will be a grand jubilee meeting.

MORE HOUSES THAT ARE OVERCROWDED. The Board of Health yesterday received reports that the tenement-houses Nov. 141 and 145 Elizabeth-st. 18 Essex-st., 125 Hester-st., 508, 510, 578 and 580 Courtland-ave., 674 Morris-ave., 206 East One-hundredhundred-and eleventh-st. were overcrowded. Owners of the houses will be ordered to reduce the number of occupants. At No. 20 Cherry-st., known as " Blind Man's Alley," Dr. Day found defects in drainage. ventilation and the construction of the houses and a nulsance on the premises likely to cause sickness dent intention of running away from his opponents, but the going was against Brait and at the half Grimaldi and Joe Lee closed with him. Now-or-Never lapped them and at they swung into the stretch Brait retired. Grimaldi by Police Justice Walsh, of Brooklyn, yesterday, likes, and prescribed for 1,100 sick persons.
